

Roberto Perez

on tour in the UK from Cuba

4th September - 4th October 2008

Roberto Perez,

Cuban permaculture designer, featured in the film 'The Power of Community', will spend one month touring Britain sharing the Cuban experience through public presentations. Roberto attributes much of the success of Cuba's urban agriculture and food security to the introduction of permaculture by a group of Australian permaculture trainers during the early years of the Cuban crisis, or 'Special Period'. The city of Havana now produces over 60% of its fruit and salad vegetables within the city and peri-urban areas.

Concerned with Climate Change and Peak Oil?

How do we make the transition to a low energy society, and what would such a society be like?

Hear Roberto Perez speak in Falmouth at the WI Hall,
Webber St, Wednesday 17th September 2008, 7:00pm for 7:30pm
Donations welcome

Roberto Perez's talk on Cuba's transition to organic urban agriculture and the community response to radical change, is both thought-provoking and empowering.
